The Mystic Village property, our venue for today's lunch, is an ancestral home restructured to suit modernity without disturbing the aesthetics of the Himachali culture and village. The entire structure has been designed in a simple way using local resources such as wooden artifacts, frames, décor made from slate, jute curtains, mud pots and mud paintings on the wall. Besides the visual appeal, even the option of spending a night at Mystic Village brings forth the value that not only preserves the culture and becomes a source of revenue for the 'host' community.
